A producer we discovered with the 2010 vintage is Domaine Servin. They have a number of Premier Cru and village level wines, a superb quality-to-price ratio, and a fabulous Grand Cru "Les Preuses" (Bin 2021x) for an unlikely price. I do expect their prices to greatly increase in the next few years. Our cellar also houses a collection from the great house of François Raveneau, through a series of years and appellations. These are big personal favorites of mine. Incredibly precise wines of very distinct character.

Two producers at opposite ends of the stylistic spectrum are producing Corton Charlemagne Grand Cru. Lucien Le Moine produces a very modern style white Burgundy with robust fruit intensity and very attractive oak seasoning. The venerable house of Louis Latour has been the standard-bearer in Corton-Charlemagne over the last century - wines of complexity and authority, with very layered personalities. Ripe with pineapple, hazelnuts & white dusty stones - these are incredible wines with white meat game and especially the cheese trolley.

Jean-Max Roger's Sancerre "Cuvée C.M." (Bin 544) is an excellent example of how strong the 2014 vintage is in Sancerre. The crispness of the Sauvignon Blanc balances well with the plump, bright grapefruit & white peach fruit and beautifully communicates the Kimmeridgian soil.

Condrieu is a tiny appellation in the Northern Rhône Valley producing unctuous & exotic creamy whites from Viognier. Cuilleron offers detailed orange marmalade & white flowers.

~

The brothers Bonnefond produced an ultra-expressive wine - Condrieu, Patrick et Christophe Bonnefond 2014 (Bin 2504) that will pair well with unusual items, raw fish or spicy seafood that haven't met their match.

Grüner Veltliner is an ancient indigenous Austrian grape that is very green tea, jasmine, citrus peel, white pepper and light to medium-bodied in almost all its variations. It serves ideally in the part of the menu with raw seafood and with delicious little fried things like oysters & soft crabs.

Do endure these two crisp whites from the northwest of Spain – bins 2244x & 2127. Both are long and bright and flexible with the Bibei having more aromatics and the Bierzo having more power. Both wines are superb purchases - being unknown has kept their prices fair.

Red Burgundy

There's a reason that there are 3 pages of red wines from Burgundy on the list. We have stocked the cellar with most years but 2009 & 2010 are especially strong. If you want to know what to drink with our menu and Cindy's cooking, throw a dart at these pages (or you can talk to us).

VOUGEOT
2177x	Vougeot Ier Cru "Clos de la Perrière" Domaine Bertagna 2004	$171	Clos de Vougeot, because of its variability in quality, is far and away the most under-valued Grand Cru. But the better parcels, in the hands of the best wine-makers, make some of the best wines in Burgundy to age long-term. We have a number of wines from great producers with some bottle age on them. Hermitage vineyards are essentially sitting like a monk's cap of granite atop a very round hill directly across the river from the town of Tain (where Valrhona chocolate was born and is produced). The best vintages for Hermitage are always when that granite cap is roasted thoroughly in the sun. Years of great heat like 99, 03, 09 & 10 are all exceptional.

The wines typically spend 42 months in oak casks during their upbringing and often seem to "die" in barrel. A few years later they are reborn when bottled. Uniquely intense and balanced individual expressions; La Turquie is to Beethoven as La Landonne is to Brahms and La Mouline is to Chopin.

André Brunel "Les Cailloux - Cuvée Centenaire" 2003 (Bin 2012x) This is Brunel's top bottling of 100% one-hundred year-old Grenache fruit raised up in new oak barrels. It is a wine of very forceful personality.

~

I drink (note: drink, not taste, think about, ponder over, etc) more Châteauneuf du Pape's than anything else. Why? For satisfaction, complexity, interest, flexibility with food and a large window of drinkability, a good Châteauneuf-du-Pape is hard to beat. Currently I love the freshness and body of 2006.

The "El Nido" bottlings are super interesting buys for consumers of California Cabernet. While they have mammoth size & fruit, the wines deliver a darker fruit accent & mellower tannins.

All the Cune wines are bottled and then stored, unlabelled, in the historic cellars. They are stored unlabelled because the labels would quickly deteriorate in the humidity of these cellars. Plus, the bottles might stay there for decades, undisturbed. Before release, the bottles are hand cleaned and labelled. Cune never recorks its library wines. Recorking exposes the wine to the atmosphere and changes it. The wines do not see the light of day from the day they are bottled until they are released.

Notice the wines of Elio Altare, one of the key progenitors of the modernist movement in Barolo that began in the 1980's. His wines are all beautiful and reflect his precise methods in the vineyard as well as his lavish winemaking style in the cellar.

Chappellet (Napa Valley) 2014 (Bin 2257) is from a site that is a source of some of the wines with better reputations in the 70's. Ripe, balanced and lengthy, it is enjoyable now as a young wine and will be for decades.

~

Peter Michael's "Les Pavots" bottlings are the greatest wines produced in the Knights Valley which occupies the border between Napa & Sonoma counties. These Bordeaux inspired Cabernet-Sauvignon dominated blends are always polished, complex, deep, long & satisfying.

Winderlea "Winderlea Vineyard" (Willamette Valley) 2011 (Bin 2545) is a wine that, when tasted from barrel, made me think of top notch Volnay Premier Cru – black raspberry fruit, flowers, minerals and white pepper.

Tom Dehlinger has, over the years, been my favorite producer of California Pinot Noir. His wines always have excellent intensity and expression. They show charming fruit but are not alcoholic fruit bombs.

We've chosen a few particularly ageworthy wines to offer in large formats in part because the larger format allows the wines to age more successfully and because of course, it is always more festive to have a big bottle at the table. It is best to allow us some decanting time, or order a bottle a day or two in advance, so we can properly care for it and it can be served as intended, the show-stopping centerpiece of your dinner party.
